The money is being donated to the Glanfield Children's Group

The Glanfield Children's Group was set up in 1987 and named in memory of Father Frank Glanfield, a priest who was involved with the care of children with specific needs both in Lourdes and in England. In 1987 a small group formed the first "Glanfield Group" as part of The Catholic Association Pilgrimage which has been taking people to the shrine at Lourdes in France for over 100 years. Until 1987 most children taking part in the pilgrimage had been staying in the same hospital-style accommodation as adults, which wasn't really suited to them. The first "Glanfielders" had the vision of setting-up a group within The Catholic Association (C.A.) that was geared specifically towards the needs of children.

The aim of Glanfield today is to provide both a holiday-pilgrimage for the children they accompany to Lourdes, and a much-needed time of respite for their parents and carers, who are welcome to join the group if they wish (though several take the week as a time for well-earned rest and recuperation). The children they take usually have learning difficulties, or illness that is chronic or terminal. They also welcome the children's siblings and carers. Glanfield has a Roman Catholic basis, but they welcome any person of good will who accepts the Catholic ethos of Glanfield.

Dad's granddaughter Sophie has been to Lourdes twice with the Glanfield Group.
